

North Salem Elementary School Talent Show

by Susan Miner

On Tuesday evening, May 22, the children of the North Salem Elementary School, displayed their talents for a crowded auditorium filled with friends and family at the Salem High School. The show was kicked off as the audience stood while Emily Mahoney sang the Star Spangled Banner.

The group ranged from kindergarten to grade 5 and displayed a diverse array of talents. There were musical instrument acts (drums, flutes, piano), acrobatics, tap dancing, and Irish step dance routines, others did baton twirling and hula hoop acts performed to dizzying delight as well as acrobatic numbers and a group mime performance.

The entire group gathered on stage after all of the individual performances were over and took a collective bow to thank the audience for attending their event.

Second grader Elin O'Neill tap dances to "Ain't She Sweet"